1. In late March a group of over 400 railway employees of the Liuchou Railway Administration departed for Korea. This was the first railway service group sent to Korea by the Kwangsi Party Committee.
2. In early April the Chinese Communist Kwangsi Party Committee had recruited 1,969 male railway employees for transfer to North Korea from the Liuchou Railway Administration, the Kwangsi Public Security Office, the Cultural Work Department of the Political Department of the Kwangsi Military Region, and the Kwangsi Health Administration. These employees were organized into two anti-American Aid-Korea Service Reserve Units. No date had been selected for the departure of the two units for Korea. In early April the units were at Liuchou receiving military, railway, and political training.
3. Organization and training of the service units was one of the regular activities of the Kwangsi Party Committee.
